TRAFFIC REPORT SHOWS BIG DECREASE FROM LAST MONTH

Industrial Depression Responsible for the Slump in Coal Shipments

OUTLOOK, HOWEVER, HOPEFUL

No "alibi" is necessary to explain the slump in coal shipments on the Monongahela river for the first month in the new year of 1921. While the report submitted to the United States officials show a large decrease from the previous month of December, at the same time they show a large increase over the corresponding month of 1920.

According to the figures as shown by Lockmaster Sweeney's books the record for January, 1921, is 7,620,000 bushels less than December, but at the same time they are 11,262,000 bushels greater than January, 1920. The total shipments for January 1921 are 29,232,000 bushels of coal, almost a million bushels a day. No coke was shiped through the locks last month ,hwile in January, 1920, there were 260,000 bushels.

The report, however, shows a noticeable decrease in coal shipments from up-river pools, due to a slowing down in industrial affairs. Many mills are down or running on short time, which has caused a decrease in the fuel supply, and this decrease has been reflected in the shipments of coal from mines in the Monongahela valley.

The Carnegie Steel company is operating its line of steamers to a greater capacity than any other company, the Pittsburgh Coal, the Hillmans and other companies having but few boats in commission at the present time. However, in spite of the present slump, steamboatmen are optimistic over the outlook and believe that with the opening of spring there will be a great deal more activity.

The following report as submitted by Lockmaster Sweeney shows the amount of traffic for the month:—

Going up—Lockings 513; steamers 317; boats and barges 1471; other craft, 54; iron products, 105 tons; sand, 7,000 bushels; gravel, 133,000 bushels; lumber, 1,000 feet board measure, passengers, 6.

Going down — Lockings, 532; steamers, 317; boats and barges, 1,497; other craft, 51; bushels coal, 29,232,000 bushels; other products, 15 tons.

DAYLIGHT SAVING BILL IN THE STATE SENATE

A new daylight saving bill providing for turning the clock ahead one hour at 2 a. m. on the second Sunday of April, and for return to customary time at 2 a. m. on the second Sunday in September, was presented in the Senate at Harrisburg Monday night by Senator George Woodward of Philadelphia.

CHARLEROI WINS BY CLOSE SCORE

Enthusiasm ran high in the local gymnasium last evening, when Charleroi took over Canansburg by a score of 19 to 16, in a game which was marked by good and inferior playing. The contest was spirited enough, throughout, but the scoring on both sides was surprisingly low. This was due, chiefly, to close guarding. The players on both teams seemed to be laboring under a nervous tension, and this played havoc with their basket throwing. The attendance was most complimentary. In fact, this is something which has marked the games played on the local floor this season, and which is appreciated.

The boys from "Bullet Town" came to Charleroi aching under the defeat administered to them about a month ago, on their home floor and were determined to safely place last night's contest on the right side of the ledger, as far as they were concerned. Coach Stahlman's quintet was not in the best of condition, and a change in the regular lineup was necessary, on account of the indisposition and other minor affairs. Webster's place was taken by Stephens, who did quite well. Wagner and Brown were not in good physical shape, the former suffering from a slight indisposition, while the latter was bothered by a troblesome ankle.

Canonsburg assumed the lead early in the game, and maintained it until the end of the first half. Charleroi evened up things in the third quarter, and a few seconds before the period terminated, acquiring the lead being just one point ahead when the whistle blew. In the concluding period, which was quite tense, Canonsburg succeeded in making two points and they by the foul route, while Charleroi garnered four—a brilliant field goal by Daniel when it was most needed, and two fouls. Wagner was slightly off color in the earlier part of play, but grew stronger as the game progressed, until he was going like a whirlwind. It was good for the locals that he did so well, because field goals were as scarce as the proverbial "hen's teeth." The summary:

Charleroi—19.		Canonsburg—16.
Wagner	F	Luke
Daniel	F	Kerr
Weaver	C	McGrann
Stephens	G	McNary
Brown	G	Engle

Substitutions: Charleroi—Webster for Stephens, Stephens for Daniel, Daniel for Stephens. Field goals—Wagner, Stephens, Daniel, McGrann 2, McNary 2. Foul goals—Wagner 13 out of 20; Luke 8 out of 12. Referee—Weitzel.

Timekeeper, Daniel. Scorers Clipman and Baker.

Options Accepted by Frick Company for New Town Site

Options have been accepted by the H. C. Frick Coke company, it was reported from reliable sources, on the surface of three farms at Ginger Hill, near Monongahela, as a site for a mining town. Rumors have also been current that a railroad would be doubtful, as it is thought the coroporadoubtful, as it is though the corporation will remove the coal from under the thousands of acres it owns in that district underground to the river to be shipped by boat.

Farms on which the company is said to have accepted options are the Coulson and S. M. Keenan farms, the acreage of which totals about 450 acres. The Frick Company has already purchased the Charles Williams surface of 100 acres and is now in possession of the property, Mr. Williams haveing moved off last week.

Engineers of the corporation have been active in the Ginger Hill district for some time and are now working towards Kammerer.

Surface on which the Frick Company has accepted options joins farms in the Mingo Creek valley, where the Pittsburgh Coal company has announced its intention to build a mining town. Application for a charter to build a railroad from the river up to this proposed mining town site has already been made. Surface on which the Pittsburgh Coal company is said to hold options are Milholan, Housman, Bennett, Henry and Ballard tracts, all in the Mingo valley.

The Mingo company in its application stated that eventually its railroad would unite with the Montour. Engineers of the new road are now said to be working in the Venetia section, and there is much speculation as to the route which will be followed in linking up with the Montour, which is generally believed will be at some point in Peters township.

FEB. 13 DESIGNATED AS RELIEF SUNDAY

The Ministerial Association met on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, at which time a resolution was passed, naming Sunday, February 13, as a day when the citizens of Charleroi will have an opportunity to give relief to the hungry on earth. Urgent calls have been coming from the Near East Committee, and from China, and the citizens will have a chance to answer these calls on the date above named.

Angela Alfieri, wife of Joseph Alfieri, died at her home, 616 McKean avenue, Tuesday, February 1, aged 26 years, from pneumonia. Funeral at 10 o'clock a. m., Thursday morning from the Italian R. C. Chuch, interment in Calvary cemetery

DYNAMITE TAKEN AND THEN RETURNED

Monongahela Railway detectives are at a loss as to the identity of the persons who, on January 5, broke into the supply house of the company located at Big Meadow Run, a few miles south of Brownsville, and carried away eight boxes of dynamite, using a handcar which had been stolen from a tool house of the company nearby. Railway detectives have been working constantly on the case, but have been unable to secure any clue that would lead to the arrest of the thieves.

Sometime during Tuesday night last the supply house and tool house were again entered, and the hand car removed, to aid in the returning of the stolen dynamite, which was found in its usual place on Wednesday morning by the officers.

READY TO ELECT DIRECTORS FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Twenty-Four Members have been Nominated for Twelve Positions on Board

POLLS CLOSE FRIDAY, 3 P. M.

The primary election of the Chamber of Commerce, to nominate the twenty-four members whose names are to be placed on the final ballot, was held on Tuesday. The polls closed at 3 p. m., and four groups of counters started tallying the three hundred and one ballots cast. After working for four hours the tellers announced the following members had been nominated:—

John D. Berryman, Walter Byerly, Roy I. Carson, Kerfoot W. Daly, Hugh E. Fergus, Louis P. Flickinger, B. B. Fox, E. W. Hastings, Dr. J. W. Manon, George W. Might, R. C. Mountser, David M. McCloskey, Dr. H. J. Repman, Minnie B. Richardson, George W. Risbeck, R. H. Rush, John B. Schafer, Harry W. Scott, Lee Showers, Tom P. Sloan, F. C. Stahlman, H. L. Swickey, H. C. Terbush, S. L. Woodward.

Kerfoot W. Daly led the ticket, closely followed by Walter Byerly and R. H. Rush.

Immediately after the resultDs were announced the field secretary had the final ballots prepared and they were placed in the postoffice just before midnight to be delivered to all members this morning.

Each member will be asked to vote for twelve out of the twenty four, and the twelve receiving the highest number of votes will be declared elected as Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, the first six for two years and the other six for one year. Only those members who have paid at least one quarter of the yearly dues will be eligible to vote.

The polls close Friday, February 4, at 3 p. m., and all members are requested to vote early.

This evening another set of group meetings will be held at the borough building, and all members whose names begin with L and from there down to Z are requested to be present.

APPOINTS MANY NEW DEPUTY SHERIFFS

Sheriff I. J. Shaw visited Fayette City one evening last week, and when he left there were eighteen earnest, hard working farmers who had taken the oath as a deputy sheriff. They are not ready to admit at this time that all danger from fires is past, and have taken the precaution to be prepared should there be another outbreak of incendiarism.

FIRST MEMBERSHIP FOROM MEETING

The first membership Forum Meeting under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Municipal building, Friday evening, February 4th, at which time the topic of discussion will be "Housing." George H. Schwan, an architect and city planner of national reputation, will be the speaker. Local speakers will also discuss Charleroi's housing needs. At this time also, the final section for the Board of Directors for the Chamber of Commerce will be announced. Guy Moffitt will be the chairman of the meeting.

HAS LOST FAITH IN OFFICIAL PROMISES

Joe T. S. Cowen, of the Roscoe Ledger, has no faith "a-tall" in the county or commonwealth over the improvement of the river road between Speers and Coal Center. In the last issue of his paper he says:

"Our county commissioners and engineer were in Harrisburg this week, talking over the road situation. Almost as soon as their conference is over bids are advertised for a Washington county road, but it is not the Speers-Coal Center road. It is one in Somerset and Nottingham townships. Thus the Speers-Coal Center road, which was promised to be FIRST—that was before election—has again been sidetracked and the patient, mud-bound populace of this part of the valley plod their weary way, creating wrinkles and growing gray waiting for the servants of the people to keep their promises."

Notice To Maccabees

There will be a five cent carnival at the P. H. C. Hall, Thorsday evening, February 3. Everybody invited. The regular meeting will start at 7 o'clock instead of eight as usual.

Revival meetings will begin at the Free Methodist church, Seventh street, between Lookout and Crest, tonight. An invitation is extended to the public to attend.

FORMER SECRETARY BACK IN THE WORK

The friends of Mrs. Mary L. Stewart, of Dormont, of whom there are a number in Charleroi, former Field Secretary of the Washington County Sabbath School Association, will be pleased to learn that she has recovered from her illness and has accepted a position in the office of the Allegheny County Sabbath School Association, Publication building, Pittsburg.

A FAITHFUL SUBSCRIBER.

All newspapers have their "constant readers,' and many can boast of life long subscribers, but only a Topeka, Kansas, paper can lay claim to a patron who lies in a cemetery and requires that his copy of the daily issue be delivered to him there. The news comes that in the will of a Topeka man it is provided that "every morning for 20 years after his death the paper of which he was a reader while alive shall be delivered through the grating of the vault where he is to repose." We read further that, inasmuch as the will provides payment in advance for a 20 year subscription, 'no doub't the circulation manager will see to it that this somewhat unusual order is filled." In that case about 7,300 copies of his favorite journal will be dropped into the deceased Kansan's tomb in the course of 20 years, a fresh one every day. This reflection suggests, as a possible explanation, that the testator preferred newspapers to flowers on his grave.

In any case the pride in such a subscriber on the part of the favored newspaper is pardonale. It is obvious that more such subscribers, faithful not only unto death, but for venty years after death, might aid considerably in helping newspapers especially the smaller ones, over the hard places along the journalistic road. A general following of the deceased Kansan's example might have its commercial drawbacks, however If half or two thirds of a newspapers issues were delivered in cemeteries and were never scanned by mortal eyes, its advertising rates would have to come down. Though local rivals are no doubt convinced that the favored Topeka paper was regarded by the testator as a "dead one" fit only for the tomb, opinion generally is that the remarkable after death subscription was meant to be complimentary.

Somebody peeped into Leo Toschi's Boston studio and saw him working on a statue on Sunday, and in consequence the sculptor has been fined $10 in a municipal court. What will happen when the blue zealots learn that most of the work on Monday newspapers is one while it is still Sunday?

It is said to have been decided in a conference of "best minds" that the business depression is "to a considerable extent psychological"—not meaning that it is imaginary but gently hinting that the majority in Congress ought not to be expected to cure it by resolution or enactcent.

Bethman-Hollweg may have stuck to the German notion about treaties to the last breath, but in the world to which he has gone he may discover that the Ten Commandments can not be discounted as a mere scrap of paper.

Five thousand professional actors and actresses are reported out of work, and the number of the stage-struck longing for their first oportunity to "act" is doubtless many times greater.

A CHANGE COMING.

One thing seems to be admitted—that most of our immigration evils could be overcome by proper enforcement of the law. And the people voted for the installation of a new lot of officers.

$100,000,000 TO JAPAN.

The United States sent nearly one hundred million dollars in gold to Japan last year, to settle adverse balances of trade. Buy it "Made in America."

Raw furs are selling for one-fourth of what they brought a year ago, but Congress need not be expected to enact a law to keep up the price as long as trapers fail to form a large voting group.

In Grant's Cabinet.

President Grant had two secretaries of state: Elihu B. Washburn of Illinois was appointed March 5, 1869, but resigned six days later to accept the post of ambassador to France. Hamilton Fish succeeded Washburn. He was reappointed at the beginning of Grant's second term and remained to its end.

Platinum at High Price.

A troy ounce of platinum can be made into a wire so fine as to be almost invisible and long enough to reach from New York to Denver. Only in recent years has platinum become the most precious metal used by jewelers. It is now $105 an ounce or more than five times the price of gold.

The Nation's Position.

We stand against all tyranny. We stand for the rule of the many in the interest of all of us, in a spirit of courage, of common sense, of high purpose, and with kindly justice toward every man and every woman.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Toil the Universal Rule.

If you want knowledge, you must toil for it; and if pleasure, you must toil for it. Toil is the law! Pleasure comes by toil, and not by self-indulgence and indolence. When one gets to love his work, his life is a happy one.—Ruskin.

What Dreams Mean.

To dream you are connected with the mail service denotes great disappointment and sorrow. To receive a great quantity of mail signifies empty honor. To mail a letter foretells happiness of short duration.

Electrolized Sea Water.

Electrolized sea water possesses antiseptic properties, and an apparatus has been perfected which, at small cost, electrolyzes sea water on shipboard so that it can be used as a disinfectant.

Wealth in Central Kongo.

Copal is a resinous gum fonnd in large quantities in the marshy forests of the Central Kongo. It is gathered from living trees (principally of the copaifera species) or is dug from the ground in a fossil state, often being found in sandy river bottoms. The natives it is said, show considerable ingenuity in finding copal, searching for it with iron-tipped sticks in localities where experience teaches them it is likely to occur.

Chaplain's Forgetfulness.

The chaplain of a jail was once invited to preach to a large and fashionable congregation in a neighboring church. Somehow he managed to bring with him a sermon that he had preached to the prisoners in the jail chapel, and astonished the fashionable folk by telling them: "But for the unmerited mercy of the crown many of you would long ago have expiated your crimes on the scaffold."

He Had to Laugh.

A private with the A. E. F. felt thirsty, and not having a franc in his pocket decided the only way he could get some wine was to faint. So he pretended to faint in front of the first inn. Two French girls ran out, picked him up and started toward the inn. Unfortunately one of the girls inadvertently tickled him and he laughed. The indignant girls left him sitting on the ground.

His Excuse.

Jack was the most mischievous little boy in the neighborhood. His mother had the habit of always trying to excuse his pranks. One day he got into trouble about tampering with a water faucet in the yard of the woman next door. "Why did you do it?" she asked. "Oh, I'm too young to know any better," the little boy assured her.

Stiff Meat.

The beefsteak served at dinner was somewhat tough and little Bessie made it more emphatic when she said, "My, muvver, but this cow meat's 'tiff."

VETERAN IS GIVEN COURT APPOINTMENT

Schuyler Miles, a well-known veteran of Co. H, 110th regiment, of Washington, was on Saturday last appointed a tipstaff in the court of common pleas and quarter sessions of the county. Mr. Miles is the second wounded member of Co. H who has been thus recognized. The other is Roy H. King, recently named court crier. Both served under Col. John Allen, now register of the orphans court of Washington county.

Mr. Miles was only recently discharged from the Walter Reed hospital at Washington, D. C. He spent many months in hospitals in France and this country. He was wounded at Carmont the latter part of July, 1918. He was shot in the side, the ball taking a course across the back and touching the spine. It was thought for many months he would not get well, and even if he did, he would never be able to walk. He is still crippled slightly from the wound and is incapacitated from any heavy manual labor.

CALIFORNIA NOSED OUT BY ONE POINT

The Charleroi basket ball team defeated the California team, on the Normal school floor at California last evening by a score of 29 to 23. The game was one of the best of the season and had the large crowd present on thier feet most of the evening. As the whistle blew ending the game at 28-28, California fouled, which gave Charleroi an oportunity to shoot a foul goal, which they did, scoring the winning point. Summary:

ENGLAND HAS A NEW CLASS

"New Poor" Is the Problem There Now—Humdrumness of Life Is Their Tragedy.

England has no nouveau riche—the "new poor" is the class most referred to in England today, according to Miss Clarissa Spencer who has just returned from London as representative of the overseas department of the Y. W. C. A. In addition to England Miss Spencer visited European countries to further the work of the Y. W. C. A. in explaining their peoples one to the other through the medium of their women.

"Not starvation, nor homeliness, but the humdrumness of life is the tragedy of a great portion of English young women." Miss Spencer says: "Young men are few.

"For most of the girls who had been engaged to be married and for many who had just married at the opening of the war, life now holds little but the long years ahead. Some of them, of course, will marry. But many more will brave the endless succession of days, each the same color as the last."

Few English girls are idle. Most of them earn their living now. What has struck Miss Spencer so forcibly is that work, food and shelter become meaningless to the vast number of England's girls who no longer look ahead to homes of their own.

Miss Spencer believes that not so many English girls are coming to this country as are going to England's own colonies.

TELESCOPIC CAMERA IN ANDES

Largest Photographic Apparatus in the World Has 24-Inch Lens.

The South American station of Harvard University's observatory, tucked away in the Peruvian Andes, near the city of Arequipa, in the old Inca empire, boasts of the largest photographic apparatus in the world. It is a huge telescopic camera with a 24-inch lens which has been of great aid to science in its observations of the southern skies.

The station was founded 30 years ago, and is located near the base of the famous Andean volcano, Misti. The Arequipanian Indians, descendants of the Inca civilization, frequently speak of themselves as the sons and daughters of old Misti. It is said the Indians in the surrounding country still worship the mountain with much reverence, regarding it as the cause of earthquakes which often are felt in the region. The volcano erupted seven years ago.

Superstitions in regard to the mountain date back to prehistoric times. The ruins of the ancient pagan temples, a writer says, have been found in the crater of the volcano, and even today near the top may be seen a great iron cross, placed there in 1677, when a party of Spanish priests exorcised and pleaded with it not to erupt again and destroy their cities.

The clear atmosphere of the Arequipa region is said to have afforded an excellent site for an observing station.

German "Booby Traps."

At the start of the reconstruction work in the devasted coal region about Lens, France, the French were taught by several disasters that the retreating Germans, before flooding mines, had concealed along the walls unnumbered "booby traps," says Popular Mechanics. Consequently, in order that the divers, charged with preliminary inspections, may "look before they leap," the government recently purchased from England an interesting apparatus for submarine photography. Lowered down the flooded shaft, this apparatus illuminates a ten-foot zone; then, as switches are pressed at the mouth of the shaft, it photographs simultaneously each of the four walls.

A melancholy looking man entered the establishment of a photographer.

"I should like to have a picture of myself weeping beside my wife's grave," he explained.

"I fear I have not the necessary accessories here," said the photographer. Then he added facetiously, "Couldn't we arrange to have the portrait made at the grave itself?"

"No," said the man; "that's in New York state. It would be too expensive to go there. Just you fix up some kind of a grave here in the shop. I could weep on that. It's no trouble for me to weep anywhere."—Everybody's Magazine.

Revised Version.

Little Bert had been to Sabbath school by himself. When he returned his mother tried, rather unsuccessfully, to find what he had learned. But all she could elicit after much questioning was that his teacher said Jesus was going to send him a quilt. That, he insisted, was all they learned.

When mother consulted the Sunday school quarterly, she found the golden text for the day was:

"Behold, I send you the Comforter."

Washing Machine Activity.

Next to the automobile manufacturers, the makers of washing machines are now the greatest consumers of copper. The utility companies, which in normal times are large users of copper, cannot buy much now because they can't get the money. But washing machines are being turned out by thousands, in an effort to meet the shortage of labor, and copper enters largely into the construction of most of the washing machines.

LAW WOULD PREVENT DEFAMATION OF CHURCH

Legislation defining libel of any religious denomination or sect was presented in the Senate at Harrisburg on Monday night by Senator Vare, of Philadelphia. It provides that any malicious defaming expressed by printing, signs, pictures or of the like tending to impeach the honesty, integrity, virtue, reputation, character or patriotism of the people of any religious denomination or sect, thus exposing them to public hatred, contempt, ridicule, prejudice or disfavor would constitute a misdemeanor and be known as a general libel. The truth, when published with good motives, and for justifiable ends, would be a sufficient defense.

NEW QUARTER BOAT ON MODERN LINES

A new quarter boat, with many modern improvements, is being constructed at the government boat yard, North Charleroi, and will be ready for service within a short time. This new boat measures 114 feet in length with 30 feet breadth of beam, on which is erected a bouble decked superstructure for the accommodation of the working force which may be occupying the boat at the time.

The boat is being equipped with accomodations for 85 people, and will be equipped with electric light, steam heat, tub and shower baths, hot and cold water, with staterooms furnished in the most comfortable manner. This quarter boat will be used by the government for the accommodation of working forces which may be engaged at any point along the river in making repairs, or which may be engaged in new work. The new quarter-boat is far in advance of others used for similar work, and will be highly appreciated by those who are to be accommodated.

OLD FIDDLERS' CONTEST AND OLD FASHIONED COUNTRY DANCE.

Since the announcement last week of the proposed Old Fiddlers' Contest and Old Fashioned dance which will be held in Might's Auditorium on Friday night of this week, interest in this most novel entertainment has been rapidly increasing and it is safe to say that such a gathering of old time fiddlers has never been known in this section before.

The old fashioned call figure type of dance is being heartily endorsed and many who have not danced for years will either be on the floor, or among the spectators.

Such an entertainment at Washington, Pa., a week ago, brought out men and women from all walks and professions in greater numbers than had ever before gathered in Washington's big dance hall, "The Gardens," and a most delightful evening was spent by all, dancers and onlookers alike. To watch to hear the old fiddlers executing their pieces while an enthused fellowman is wheeling off a jig in good old style is worth seeing. Several highly classical solos will be rendered by an artist of the violin, and these with some numbers of present day dances make the evening pleasing to all. A prize waltz will be given, and prizes to both lady an gentlemen will be awarded the winners. Lay aside the cares of your busy life, and join in the mirth of a good old quadrille and an old fashioned waltz. Doors open at 7 o'clock and dancing will begin at eight. The Fiddler's contest is open to anyone over 40 years and there is no charge to become a competitor or restrictions as to pieces played. Consult Fiddler's contest manager, Charleroi Hotel. 203-t1

Birds and Traps.

Curiously enough, many birds, instead of fearing traps, develop a fondness for them, probably because they find them a source of ample feed which can be secured without danger to themselves. While this trait occasionally is something of a nuisance to the trapper, it often is of great assistance. It is believed that birds, having learned to recognize traps, will be apt to go to them for feed in the course of their migrations, and so, when caught will furnish material for ornithologists' reports.

To Remove Lead From Gunbarrels.

Chemically pure and strong nitric acid will dissolve the lead in a gunbarrel, and will not injure the metal of the barrel unless the acid becomes diluted with a little water. To remove the acid, pour all of it out and wipe the gun dry with a rag soaked in olive or cottonseed oil. Do not get the acid on the hands or clothes. If by chance this happens it should be washed off immediately with water and then some weak alkali.

Productive Denizens of the Sea.

The teeth of the shark sell readily and are utilized by manufacturing jewelers in ornaments of one kind or another. From the blood of the sea mammals we now get the basic substance for a very superior kind of waterproof glue, which is used in the preparation of laminated or built-up wooden stock from which the propellers and other parts of aircraft are today fashioned.

Mistake Too Often Made.

It is true that out of the crosses and vexations of life, its petty cares and troubles as well as its great griefs, is to come the discipline that makes souls fine and strong. But we mistake our province when we allow our own ill temper and selfishness to supply such material to our neighbors. They will find all necessary hardships without our adding to the number.—Exchange.

Saw It in Different Light.

Mr. Bilius (greatly bored by the play)—"Maria, that fellow is positively the worst stick I ever saw on the stage. He makes love to that pretty little countess like a hippopotamus trying to court an angel." Mrs. Bilius (much interested)—"He does, John; he does. But how vividly it seems to recall the days of our courtship, John!"

The Voter's Puzzle.

Isn't it passing strange that whenever two humans aspire to one office the public mind becomes impressed with the fact that one of them is a hang-up patriot and the other is a doleful dolt and a voracious troglodyte, the only difference of opinion being as to which is which?—Houston Chronicle.

MARL BEDS GREAT

New Jersey Has Much Wealth in Its Possession.

Formed Ages Ago When the Atlantic Coast Was a Marsh and Swarmed With Gigantic Reptiles.

The cretaceous period may seem remote from the present, and in point of time it is. It was a good many ages ago when the Atlantic coastal plain was under water and when gigantic saurians swarmed in ocean and marsh.

But natural processes that were under way during this period are affecting our present civilization very vitally. They touch our food, our clothing, our industries—in fact, every phase of life. Herschol Bickell tells the Brooklyn Eagle. For it was during the cretaceous period that Mother Nature was storing up coal and lignites, petroleum and marls, especially a greensand marl which has recently been brought prominently to the attention of Americans by the discovery that it is rich in potash.

The chief constituent of greensand is a mineral called glauconite, which, in technical terms, is a dull green amorphous silicate of iron and potassium. Glauconite contains from 6 to 8 per cent of potash. This is removed by treating the mineral with milk of lime under pressure, the result being pure caustic potash, which is the base for all the many potash chemicals used in industry and also—even more important at the present time—for the best commercial fertilizers.

The exact origin of glauconite is not yet known, although scientists have established the fact that its formation is continuing today at the bottom of the sea, in some places from 200 to 2,000 fathoms deep, although it seems to be especially favored by shallower water of about 100 fathoms.

The fact that it occurs in rounded lumps, surrounded in many instances by shells of the foraminifera, minute organisms of the bottom of the ocean, has given rise to the theory that in some little understood way the decomposition of the bodies of these animals brought about the chemical reaction that resulted in glauconite.

It is crystalline in form but is rarely found in anything like perfect crystals, usually occurring in minute particles, which react feebly with polarized light. Often free glauconite is found without traces of the shells mentioned and it is believed that this occurs because ocean currents have washed away the heavier minerals from its surrounding calcareous formation. The shells tend to become very friable, and the whole mass of glauconite and shells may easily be crushed between the fingers.

The marl beds of New Jersey have been known and used as sources of fertilizers for as many years as the state has been settled. Until recently, however, it was for the phosphoric acid and carbonate of lime, both of which they contain, that the marls were used. Their richness in potash content, while known vaguely, had never been regarded as of first importance, because no satisfactory process for separating the potash had been found.

These beds cover a large area which stretches obliquely across the state from Raritan bay and the Atlantic on the southwest, a distance of 100 miles. They vary from nine to nineteen miles in width and the average depth of the deposit is 30 feet.

According to figures compiled by the geological survey, a square mile of greensand—there are approximately 1,250 square miles of it in New Jersey—will yield, from a thickness of one foot, 78,000 tons of potash, and a 20-foot bed that covers an area of a square mile will yield 1,500,000 tons.

New Jersey is not the only state, however, that has rich greensand deposits. The marl beds run through Delaware, across the District of Columbia and down into Virginia, tapering to a point a short distance south of Petersburg. They are slightly wider in their southern reaches.

Experts estimate that there is sufficient raw material in the New Jersey and Delaware beds to furnish potash for the United States these next 3,000 to 4,000 years.

I have a great fondness for trying on hats, whether I intend to purchase or not. Passing through the millinery department one day I picked up several hats and tried them on. A green tailored one lying on the counter caught my eye and I picked it up, turned up first one side and then the other, studying it critically in the mirror.

"Do you know," I addressed my mother, "this hat looks exactly like a man's hat."

And then to my embarrassment and the onlooker's amusement an equally embarrassed man standing near replied: "It is a man's. It's mine."—Chicago Tribune.

Said She Didn't Mind.

In the absence of a neighbor my mother received for her several packages. Mother was not in when I came from school, and, seeing the bundles, I began an investigation, thinking that mother or sister had been shopping. One box contained a hat, which I tried on. The bell rang, and I ran to answer. It was our neighbor, and at sight of the hat upon my head she gave a gasp. I knew then what I'd done and apologized profusely. She was kind enough to laugh and say she didn't mind.—Exchange.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"The price of the FORDSON TRACTOR has been reduced from $790.00 to $625.00, effective immediately.

"This price change has been made possible through lower costs of materials and the fact that we are now located in our new Tractor plant with greatly increased economic manufacturing facilities in immediate connection with our foundry and machine shops and large blast furnaces where iron is poured directly from the ore, giving us maximum efficiency with the power to reduce cost of production, and down comes the price in line with our policy to market our products at the lowest possible figure without in any way affecting our high standard of quality.

"We are particularly pleased in being able to bring about this big reduction in price at this time because the farmer needs all the help we can give him and this big cut in price will be the means of placing a valuable power unit within the reach of practically every one of them, not to mention industrial and commercial concerns which likewise have benefitted through its use and are already realizing, to a much greater extent, its value as a power and hauling unit. But particularly has the FORDSON Tractor proved a most valuable factor in the saving of farm labor, at the same time increasing the per acre crop yield as well as making possible a utilization of previously uncultivated land, to say nothing of removing no end of drudgery.

"There is no question that the use of machine power on the farm is the greatest advancement made in the development of agriculture, not only in money saving and money making results, as well as raising the standards of living on the farm to a much higher level, but because of its proved value in making every type of land more productive, and consequently our desire to place the FORDSON within the reach of all.

"THERE IS NO CHANGE IN THE PRESENT FORD CAR AND TRUCK PRICES, which are already at the lowest possible figure and now with rock bottom reached on the tractor price a further reduction in price of either the Car, Truck or Tractor is out of the question; in fact, the big price cuts have been made in anticipation of continuous maximum production and increases may be necessary before long if a large volume of new business is not obtained. Therefore, present prices of Ford products cannot be guaranteed against possible increases."

Ask for the book, "The Fordson at Work," which will be supplied free of cost. Let us demonstrate the value of the Fordson on your farm, in your factory, lumber yard, coal yard, or in any general hauling or power work you have to do and let us have your order for a Fordson.
